Online Grocery Shopping Intervention among Lower-income and SNAP households
OVERVIEW

• Online Shopping Intervention
• Qualitative Interviews with SNAP Customers
• Policy Implications
• Questions and Thoughts

ONLINE + INTENSIVE INFORMATION

• Online ordering*
• PLUS tailored nudges sent 3x per week, such as meal planning tips and recipes, support for maintaining online shopping habits, and Facebook group for social support

ONLINE ONLY

• Online ordering*
• NO tailored nudges

BRICK AND MORTAR

• Brick and mortar in-store grocery shopping with no assistance
• This is the comparison group

*Note: BOTH online groups received initial help setting up cart, $5/week to defray fees, and reminder to shop online.
INCREASE IN FREQUENCY OF SHOPPING ONLINE

During the intervention, the ‘Online Only’ group and ‘Online + Info’ group shopped online 60% and 65% of the time, respectively. The Intervention influenced households to shop online more frequently.

Customers-Illustrative Quotes

“I found everything I looked for. So it was, as far as I knew, everything that they had in the store was listed online pretty much.”

“I did change up when I had looked online. I seen some stuff that I hadn't even seen in the store. So I changed up a meal. I was like oh, let's, I'm going to do this instead of that... I was like, oh, I didn't even know they had that. You know like, some stuff I had, I guess I'd never seen....”

“I save money... Like if I'm in a store I'm going down every single aisle and I'm just picking up random stuff and I end up spending more money as opposed to being here, opening the refrigerator or the cabinets and being able to know what I need and what I don't need. And it's making me meal plan more and kind of stray away from just getting random stuff.”
SNAP Customers-Illustrative Quotes

“It was pretty easy because you just clip it to your account and then when you ring out with that, you can see the coupons come off at the end.”

“[Store Name] has it where, once you make an account with them, they’ve got online coupons where you can just upload. And I’ve got a membership with [Store Name], but it’s through [Third Party]. So any market that you’re dealing with through [Third Party], you can put your membership, any membership from any market that they do contracts with, it already be stored on there. So when you upload the coupons... they deduct it at your final pay.”
SNAP customers say benefits include:

- Convenience
- Less impulse buys
- Less or similar spending
- Improved meal planning
Overall Takeaways from SNAP Customers

Online shopping holds great promise for SNAP customers

Prices are similar and customers report spending less or equals what they would spend in-store. They also report trying new items, especially with coupons. Qualitative and quantitative results support this finding.

SNAP customers remain excited about online shopping

Although there are barriers with pick-up times and substitutions, SNAP shoppers still reported a desire to continue online shopping given other benefits.
Implications

- Online platforms can be leveraged to support families seeking to make the most of their food dollars to purchase affordable, nutritious foods—tailored shopping tips, meal planning suggestions, and easy-to-use coupons can help.

- Rural communities face additional barriers to online ordering. It is important to address challenges experienced by both retailers and customers in rural areas to support access to online ordering including SNAP EBT.

- Online platforms could potentially serve as an entry point to facilitate enrollment in SNAP (for eligible non-participants) or other programs.
